

Classical Conversations' Challenge Program

Are you a parent who is overwhelmed with the prospect of homeschooling your child through the middle and high school years, yet desires to do so? Or maybe you are a parent just looking for something to enhance and revive your homeschooling experience? Classical Conversations' Challenge Programs will equip you as a parent with the needed tools to accomplish these worthy goals. With clarity, the Challenge curriculum plots out the schedule of assignments for the parents to follow each week. Classical Conversations (CC) also plainly outlines the high school years. Provided in the curriculum are all the credits needed for a high school student to graduate. Your child's Challenge tutor will come along side of you with a curriculum plan that creates an environment of accountability, purposeful student interaction, opportunities to speak and write, and unparalleled learning excitement. The satisfying result is a well rounded student that has learned time management skills and now takes ownership of their work.

CC exists for this purpose: "To Know God and to Make Him Known." The Classical stages of grammar, dialectic, and rhetoric are used as the primary means of accomplishing that purpose. With this method of learning, CC's Challenge Program graduates students that are well equipped to continue a life of learning, are well rooted in a Biblical worldview, and will ultimately make a difference for Christ in our country and world.
